Dear Dad,

My therapist changed times on me. You know how well I do with change. I will get use to it I'm sure. That's usually how change works.

Mom's in the hospital for observation. She's having chest pain. I sure hope they can figure out what's going on with that. It's pretty scary!

[Wife] and I felt rather sick yesterday. We were both pretty lethargic and our stomachs hurt. It wasn't fun. I took the day off work and ended up sleeping a lot.

A father's blessing would be nice about now. But you aren't here. I miss you lots!

Love,
Kyle
